MISSIONARY UPDATE: ANDY + MEGAN ENGBRETSON LOCATION: THIRD WORLD

Dear Family and Friends,

The Lord truly guided our steps during our training week at Minga Hospital in Zambia. We trained 11 maintenance staff to operate and care for a new 400-kilowatt solar power system, including batteries, inverters, a generator, and utility integration.

The trainees came from a wide range of backgrounds—from cleaners and general workers to trained engineers leading the maintenance departments. Hospital leadership had been concerned that some might find the training too difficult or too slow, but we were encouraged to see every one of them show up first thing each morning and stay for the full five days. By the end of the week, each demonstrated a strong understanding of the system and a growing sense of ownership.

Our morning times studying God's Word were also very fruitful. One trainee said it was his first time ever reading the Bible, while another was an elder in his church, so there was a wide range of spiritual backgrounds. At the end of the week, one of the men challenged the group to continue studying God's Word as a maintenance team every day because of how much it had strengthened their unity as a team. Please pray that they will continue to prioritize God's Word and that the Lord will work deeply in each of their lives.

As a family, we also want to thank you for the significant role you have played in our lives over the past 17 years of ministry with EMI. Together, we have provided engineering and design services supporting the gospel work of 30 ministries in 17 countries. Hospitals, schools, orphanages, and retreat and training centers are among the facilities we have helped design and build.

While these years of ministry have been energizing and fruitful, we and EMI recognize that long-term effectiveness requires times to step back, rest, reflect, and refocus. EMI allows staff to take a sabbatical after 10 years and every 5 years thereafter. With my Parkinson's diagnosis over the past five years and my limitations becoming more evident, Megan and I recognize our need for a season of renewal in the Lord, in our personal and family life, and in our vision and calling for the next season. Therefore, we have recently begun a four-month sabbatical.

We are stepping away from normal ministry and leadership responsibilities with EMI to focus on four areas:

Releasing and relinquishing: Over the past eight months, I have been transitioning my EMI projects and involving others to ensure continuity while I am away.

Rest and recovery: We were generously gifted a trip, so we are taking time to travel in Europe and visit family in the U.S.

Reflecting and refocusing: We want to give the Lord space to speak to us and reveal more of Himself as we learn more about Him and ourselves.

Realignment: We are seeking God's direction for the best fit for us in life and ministry going forward.

We continue to need your partnership through prayer and financial support during these next few months. Please pray that the Lord will draw near to us, encourage and refresh us, and renew our passion for Him and His glory. Pray also that we will hear His voice clearly and discern what this next season of life and ministry should look like.

Thank you for walking alongside us in ministry over the past 17 years and for your continued support. Your partnership has been a tremendous blessing to our family and ministry. Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions, wisdom, or encouragement to share with us in this season.

May God bless you!
